AFYON WHITE MARBLE

As Reisoğlu Mermer, we have been producing Afyon white marble in our own Afyon white marble quarry since 1943. Blocks extracted from our Afyon white marble quarry are available both in the domestic market and exported, and are also offered to the market as cut-to-size products or slabs of the desired thickness (2-3cm) in our production facilities. Marbles obtained from our Afyon white marble quarry are used for interior and exterior cladding of buildings, floor slabs, kitchen countertops, stair steps, pallets, etc. While it is used in the construction industry, rubble and wedge-sized marbles are processed in our CNC and waterjet workshop and used in the production of souvenirs (vases, clocks, pen holders, name tags, etc.). Since Afyon white marble provides a harmonious combination with furniture in home decoration, it is used in dining tables, coffee tables, sofa edges and unit coverings.

MARMARA WHITE MARBLE

White Marmara marble is a marble that has given life to important structures in both World and Turkish history. It is possible to see Marmara marble in the Ephesus and Troy civilizations, many Roman and Byzantine structures, many Ottoman palaces, Masjid al-Aqsa and many other historical buildings. Throughout history, marble has been seen as a sign of magnificence, power and wealth. In addition to its historical importance, striped marble is a product that has managed to become a timeless value thanks to its aesthetic appearance. One of the important reasons why it is preferred in Turkish baths is its antibacterial structure. Marmara white can be used in most interior and exterior spaces without any problems for many years. White Marmara marbles are generally preferred in environments that require hygiene, such as Turkish baths, thanks to the high sulfur minerals they contain. Marmara Marbles prevent the growth of bacteria in public baths; They were widely used in many Ottoman baths throughout history.

SILVER TRAVERTINE

We extract our silver travertines from our Emirdağ quarries in Afyon. The horizontally arranged vein visuals in silver travertine varieties bring more stylish visuals and different expressions to decoration areas. Gray travertine has many uses such as steps, flooring, coverings, sinks, mosaics, etc. Silver travertine products are compatible with black marbles, white marbles, basalt etc., and a basalt pedestal sink or countertop will look very stylish on a bathroom covering made of silver travertine. Additionally, gray travertines can be combined with anthracite and black marble mosaics. Tumbled mosaic or blasted mosaic can be considered as the back wall covering of a silver sink or basalt sink.

WHITE TRAVERTINE - DENİZLİ

Travertine can be considered a type of marble, but it differs from marble with its unique porous structure. Marble and natural stone tiles come in a variety of colors, from dark brown to almost white beige. Sometimes there are veins of different colors on the surface. It appears as a unique color fluctuation in each tile. It is generally considered to be too porous to be suitable for flooring and cladding. On the other hand, tiles are the most popular and preferred type of natural stone tiles in natural stone flooring. Marble and natural stone are highly preferred due to their unique appearance resulting from the way they are formed. Denizli Travertine, a kind of beige travertine from Turkey, is widely used in bathrooms, wall cladding, countertops, showers, cut-to-size stones, residential flooring, etc. It is widely used in areas. White travertine; It is also known as Denizli Travertine. Denizli Travertines are especially suitable for flooring and covering of gardens and terraces; It can be easily used in the design of other areas of your building.
